ORGANISATION: BROWN CONSULTING

JOB TITLE ROAD DESIGN DRAFTSPERSON - MELBOURNE, AUSTRALIA

POSITION SUMMARY

Due to an increase in the number of upcoming projects in 2012, our client, a design engineering consultancy are seeking a design draftsman or engineer who is experienced in the design and documentation of road infrastructure.

Road Design Draftsman

- Melbourne CBD location
- Great salary
- Continuous learning and development opportunities

Have you been contemplating a move to one of the world's most liveable cities? Do you have expertise in the design of urban or rural roads using Microstation and/or Inroads drafting and design software packages?

If the answer is yes read on.....

Recently joining a significant national mining organisation, this design engineering consultancy is the specialist infrastructure design arm for the group.

With seven offices across the east coast of Australia and an office in Singapore they provide a full range of civil, structural and environmental engineering solutions as well as town planning and surveying from their Melbourne and Sydney offices.

Due to an increase in the number of upcoming projects in 2012, they are seeking a design draftsman or engineer who is experienced in the design and documentation of road infrastructure.

The senior managers in this organisation are hands on practitioners and take a direct interest in every project. You will have the opportunity to be mentored by experienced practitioners, take part in the organisations professional development program and will get to work on a diverse range of projects.

Rather than being a 'number' in large firm, employees in this organisation are recognised for their contribution.

With an abundance of work generated across the thriving mining industry, you have the reassurance of long term ongoing work. Now is your chance to utilise your design/drafting expertise on these exciting, major national and international projects.

An attractive remuneration will be negotiated based on your experience.
